Reading Comprehension

PREVIOUS YEAR EXAM QUESTIONS

Reading Comprehension: There will be three types of passages (maximum 300-350 words):

Unit 1.1: Factual

After reading the passage, answer the questions that follow: (Q1-Q6)

Unhappiness and discontent spring not only from poverty. Man is a strange creature, fundamentally different from other animals. He has far horizons, invincible hopes, creative energies, spiritual powers. If they are left undeveloped and unsatisfied, he may have all the comforts which wealth can give, but will still feel that life is not worthwhile. The great humanist writers, Shaw and Wells, Arnold Bennett and Galsworthy, who are regarded as the prophets of the dawn, expose the foibles, inconsistencies and weaknesses of modern life, but they ignore the deeper currents and sometimes misrepresent them. At any rate, they give nothing in their place. In the void left by the removal of tradition, morality and religion, others are putting in vague sentiments of race and power. The modern mind is shaped by Rousseau's Social Contract, Marx's Capital, Darwin's On the Origin of Species and Spengler's The Decline of the West. The outward chaos and confusion of our life reflect the confusion of our hearts and minds. Constitutions, says Plato, "are but the reflections in the outside world of the values which prevail in men's minds." There must be a change in the ideals we cherish, in the values we adopt, before we can give social expression to them. We help to secure the future only to the extent to which we ourselves are changed. What is missing in our age is the soul; there is nothing wrong with the body. We suffer from sickness of spirit. We must discover our roots in the eternal and regain faith in the transcendent truth which will order life, discipline discordant elements, and bring unity and purpose into it. If not, when the floods come and the winds blow and beat upon our houses, it will fall.

[16 Sep. 2022, Shift 1]

1. The author implies that if the eternal values and ideals are not regained, then _____

(1) The world will be flooded
(2) The sky will fall
(3) The earth will get sucked into a black hole

Read the following passage and answer the question that follows by choosing the correct option: (7-11)

Prem Chand was born at Lamahi, a village about four miles away from Banaras, on 31st July 1880. He descended from a family that owned some six bighas of land and ran a large family. Prem Chand's grandfather.

Gur Sahai Lal, was a patwari. His father was Ajaib Lal, a clerk in the post office earning about twenty five rupees a month. His mother was Anandi Devi, a good natured and accomplished woman, reminiscent of 'Barhe Ghar ki Beti.' It is to be noted that the heroine of this story is called Anandi.

The childhood of Prem Chand was spent in the village. He was a sportive and a lively boy, very fond of playing about, stealing things from the fields. He had a sweet tooth and was particularly fond of raw sugar. At Lamahi, he had his early schooling and picked up some Urdu and Persian from a Maulvi Sahib. It is on record that he was severely punished for stealing a rupee. His story 'Kazaki', is based on his own childhood memories. Kazaki was a postal messenger who travelled long distance and always brought back something with him for the child Prem Chand. In the short story he brings a little deer for the child and is dismissed for dereliction of duty, because chasing the deer had entailed great delay in returning to the post office. Kazaki is a human figure, full of dignity and self-respect, with the milk of human kindness overflowing within him.

It may be noted here that Prem Chand was a pen-name adopted by the author later on in years. He was named Dhanpat Rai and when he started writing short stories as a government servant, the pen-name used by him was Nawab Rai. Many described him as a Nawab throughout his life. When the government proscribed his first collection of short stories, 'Soze Watan', Prem Chand discarded the pseudonym Nawab Rai and all his later work appeared under the pen-name. Prem Chand.

EXPLANATION

1. Correct Answer is (4):- The author warns that if eternal values and ideals are not regained, society and civilization will collapse, reflecting the idea that the loss of spiritual and moral direction leads to disintegration, both personally and socially.

2. Correct Answer is (1):- The author critiques humanist writers for neglecting the spiritual and deeper aspects of life. They address materialism and social issues but fail to recognize the need for spiritual fulfillment, which is crucial for true human well-being.

3. Correct Answer is (2):- The author emphasizes that man's uniqueness lies in his intangible qualities—his hopes, creative potential, and spiritual capabilities. These characteristics set him apart from other animals, who lack the same depth of intellectual and spiritual complexity.

4. Correct Answer is (3):- Unhappiness and discontent are not solely caused by material poverty. The author highlights that moral and spiritual degradation play significant roles in human dissatisfaction, even if material needs are met.

5. Correct Answer is (1):-
   A-III: The strange creature man is fundamentally different from other animals.
   B-IV: Prophets of dawn are Shaw and Wells, Arnold and Galsworthy.
   C-I: The famous book written by Rousseau is Social Contract.
   D-II: Our age is missing out on spiritual development.

6. Correct Answer is (2):- The author states that despite material wealth, man will remain unhappy if his higher faculties—such as his hopes, creative potential, and spiritual development—are left unfulfilled, showing that true satisfaction goes beyond physical comforts.

7. Correct Answer is (3):- Dhanpat Rai, the real name of the author, adopted the pen-name Premchand later in life. Initially, he used the pseudonym Nawab Rai, but after the government proscribed his first collection of stories, he chose the pen-name Premchand for all his later work.

8. Correct Answer is (3):- A-II, B-IV, C-I, D-III
   Ajaib Lal: Premchand's father (II).
   Nawab Rai: Pen name used for short stories (IV).
   Lamahi: Birth place of Premchand (I).
   Premchand's grandfather: Gur Sahai Lal (III).

9. Correct Answer is (2):- Anandi is described as a "good-natured and accomplished woman, reminiscent of 'Barhe Ghar ki Beti.'" This suggests she is the heroine of Barhe Ghar ki Beti, a story linked with her character, not "Kazaki" or any of the other options.

10. Correct Answer is (1):- In the short story "Kazaki," the character Kazaki is described as a postal messenger who travels long distances and brings back things for Premchand as a child. He is not a writer, patwari, or clerk.

11. Correct Answer is (3):- The passage mentions that Premchand attended early schooling at Lamahi and picked up some Urdu and Persian from a Maulvi Sahib. This indicates that Maulvi Sahib played a key role in teaching him these languages.

12. Correct Answer is (3):-
   Persuasive Speech: Changes mindsets (III).
   Entertaining Speech: Makes you feel good (IV).
   Informative Speech: Transfers knowledge (I).
   Anecdote: Gives a touch of reality (II).

13. Correct Answer is (2) :- B) It needs a good opening with anecdotes is a key element, as mentioned in the passage. D) It is effective when presented in the first-person account and in the present tense, another critical point highlighted. A, C, E are incorrect because the speech is not time-bound, and it should not be in third-person or knowledge-based.

14. Correct Answer is (3):- The word "gratitude" means the quality of being thankful, which is synonymous with thankfulness. The other options (motivation, kindness, greatfulness) are not the exact synonym.

15. Correct Answer is (3):- The passage emphasizes that voice modulation and pacing are essential for the effectiveness of an entertaining speech. Personal promotion, low-key elements, and seriousness do not align with the entertaining style, which focuses on fun, energy, and interaction.

16. Correct Answer is (4):- A valedictory speech at a seminar is typically formal and informative, not intended to entertain. Stand-ups, wedding speeches, and toasts are classic examples of Entertaining Speeches designed to entertain and engage.

17. Correct Answer is (2):- The passage mentions sand, rock, underground springs, and tall trees (in oasis areas) as parts of the Arab world. It does not refer to high mountain ranges, which are not described in the passage as part of the desert geography.

18. Correct Answer is (3):- The camel is described as the most useful animal for the Arabs because it is large, strong, and capable of carrying more load than horses, making it essential for desert travel and transportation.

19. Correct Answer is (3):- An oasis is described as a waterhole or a safe and cool shelter where trees grow, providing shade. It is not described as an incubator, which is an artificial environment for hatching eggs, making option (3) incorrect.

20. Correct Answer is (4):- The camel is called the "Ship of the Desert" because it is larger and stronger than a horse, can carry more load, and is used by Arabs to travel long distances across the desert. All these reasons contribute to the term.

21. Correct Answer is (2):- While the Arabs love their horses and have the finest horses, the camel is their primary means of transport in the desert. The passage explicitly says the camel is more useful, so horses are not the only transport.

22. Correct Answer is (2):- The problem of conservation and regeneration of Kailadevi Wildlife Sanctuary was solved with the initiative of Local Communities. In 1990, local villagers formed the "Baragaon ki Panchayat" and initiated the 'Bhed Bhagao Andolan,' supported by the Forest Department. This led to effective forest protection, monitoring, and judicious use of resources.

23. Correct Answer is (2):-Rabaris were migrant grazers. They came from the Mewar region of Rajasthan and brought large herds of over 150,000 sheep. Their grazing activities put pressure on the sanctuary's resources, prompting local communities to take action for conservation through the formation of Panchayats and protection committees.

24. Correct Answer is (2):-The threat posed by the migrant grazers led to the formation of the Baragaon ki Panchayat in 1990. This community initiative aimed to address the grazing issue, and it later initiated the 'Bhed Bhagao Andolan.' The Panchayat played a crucial role in the conservation efforts in the sanctuary.

25. Correct Answer is (1):-The involvement of local people supported the Forest Department in stopping illegal felling and mining. The formation of Forest Protection Committees and Van Suraksha Samitis led to monitoring forest resources, checking illegal activities, and effectively halting mining operations within the sanctuary.

26. Correct Answer is (4):-We can save our forests by using our resources wisely. The local communities in the Kailadevi Wildlife Sanctuary practiced judicious use of forest resources, ensuring conservation while meeting their needs. This approach helped protect the environment while maintaining sustainable livelihoods.

27. Correct Answer is (2):- The passage mentions that the Olmec people of north-western Central America around 1500 BCE were the first to consume cocoa in

This is an age-old table. A mother and her daughter Satto, lived in a village. During that time, the forests were full of fruits and flowers. The women and girls of the village used to go and pluck these fruits and flowers. All of them used to pluck the sweet flowers of the mahua (Bassia Latifolia) tree, stored them at home and consumed them later.

One day, all of them plucked the sweet flowers and kept them in their rooms without drying them. Satto's mother was not at home. Satto dried the sweet flowers. As the flowers died. They shrunks. Later on when Satto's mother came home, she found very little flowers and thought that either Satto had eaten the flowers or she had given them to the village girls. In her blind rage, she beat her daughter to death. The women and girls of the village told her that she killed her daughter for such a trivial issue. They asked her to soak the flowers in water. When she soaked the mahuas, they swelled up and the entire room was filled with the flowers. Satto's mother was full of remorse. She regretted the fact that she killed her daughter without thinking. EXPLANATION

1. Correct Answer is (1):- The essential idea of the passage is that all humans are interconnected and interdependent, signifying the unity of mankind. The poet emphasizes that the death of any individual affects everyone, as we are all part of a greater whole. The passage calls for empathy and recognition of shared humanity.

2. Correct Answer is (4):- The word "clod" refers to a lump or chunk of earth or clay, often a small, compact piece that is loosely held together. It is used metaphorically in literature to represent something solid but disconnected, highlighting a sense of being part of a larger whole, yet distinct.

3. Correct Answer is (3):- The poetic device where words or phrases are repeated at the beginning of successive lines is called Anaphora. It creates rhythm, emphasizes a concept, and can evoke strong emotions in the reader. It is a common technique in both poetry and prose.

4. Correct Answer is (2):- The clause "for whom the bell tolls" refers to the inevitability of death. It signifies that the tolling of a bell, traditionally heard during funerals, is not just for one person but affects all of humanity, reinforcing the idea that any death diminishes us all.

5. Correct Answer is (1):- The phrase "No man is an island" means that no one is truly isolated or independent. It emphasizes that individuals are part of a greater whole and are interconnected with others in society. Each person's actions and existence impact the collective human experience.

6. Correct Answer is (3):- According to the passage, the story is described as an age-old tale. This is indicated by the phrase "This is an age-old table," suggesting it is a traditional or timeless story passed down through generations.

7. Correct Answer is (2):- The antonym of "remorse" is rejoice. Remorse refers to a deep sense of regret or sorrow, whereas rejoice means to feel joy or happiness, which is the opposite emotional response.

8. Correct Answer is (4):- As per the passage, the mother was reborn as a bird, specifically the pandak bird. This is mentioned towards the end of the passage when it says that she was reborn and now sings the song of regret about her daughter Satto and the mahuas.

9. Correct Answer is (3):- The mother beat Satto to death because she thought Satto had eaten the flowers or given them to the village girls, not realizing that Satto had dried them and they had shrunk. Her blind rage led her to make a hasty, tragic decision without understanding the situation.

10. Correct Answer is (1):- When Satto's mother soaked the flowers in water, the entire room was filled with flowers as they swelled up. This was because the flowers, which had shrunk when dried, expanded back to their original size upon being soaked, revealing that her daughter had not wasted them.

11. Correct Answer is (2):-The branch of archaeology studies the past by excavating the ground to uncover artifacts, structures, and other remnants of ancient civilizations. It helps in understanding the history, culture, and way of life of people from previous centuries by analyzing physical remains.

12. Correct Answer is (2):- A-III, B-IV, C-I, D-II

(A) The archaeologist had keen interest in – III. old coin or chip of a burial urn. He was fascinated by ancient artifacts like coins and burial urn fragments.

(B) The archaeologist was in need of – IV. an assistant. The archaeologist needed an assistant, which is why the narrator joined him.

(C) His monographs on excavations filled in – I. all the important libraries. His work was well-known and filled important libraries.

(D) The archaeologist had worked in – II. almost all parts of India. The archaeologist had excavated various regions across India.

13. Correct Answer is (3):- The archaeologist suddenly took an interest in Malgudi. This is mentioned in the passage where the narrator says the archaeologist received an inspiration that Malgudi district was "eminently diggable."

14. Correct Answer is (1):-The cynics called archaeologists "grave-diggers" mockingly. This term was used in a dismissive or sarcastic manner, implying that their work, which involved digging up the past, was akin to disturbing graves.

15. Correct Answer is (2):- The archaeologist is considered an eminent figure because his important monographs are in all reputed libraries. This suggests that his work is widely recognized and respected in academic circles, solidifying his reputation as an expert.

16. Correct Answer is (2):- The correct passive voice conversion of the sentence "The soldiers promptly obeyed his command" is "The command was promptly obeyed by the soldiers." In passive voice, the object (the command) becomes the subject, and the action is directed towards it.

17. Correct Answer is (3):-"Somebody has invited them to lunch tomorrow." In the active voice, the subject ("Somebody") is clearly performing the action (inviting), and the rest remains the same.

18. Correct Answer is (4):-The appropriate question tag for the sentence "Let's go to the beach" is "Shall we?" This tag is used when making a suggestion, offering, or asking for agreement, which fits the context of the sentence.

19. Correct Answer is (2):- The phrase "AB INITIO" comes from Latin and means "from the beginning". It is often used to describe something that starts from the very start or inception of a process or situation.
